SOUTH CHINA NORMAL UNIVERSITY SEEKS EDUCATION ON WEALTH MANAGEMENT FIRMS' INVESTMENT POLICY APPROACH

Overland Park, KS – March 31, 2010: Two individuals from U.S.-based wealth management firms will travel to South China Normal University (Guangzhou, China) to deliver a guest lecture on the western approach to Investment Policy. Rapid economic growth and expanding investment opportunities in China has Chinese investors seeking professional asset management to guide investment decisions. Marc Shaffer of Searcy Financial Services, Inc. located in Overland Park, Kansas and Gabriel Asebedo of Perennial Wealth Group, Inc. located in Bloomington, MN have been selected to speak to a group of university professors and students about the U.S. approach to asset management.

Marc Shaffer, CFP[®], AIF[®], EA, will spend two weeks this May in China speaking about China's economic growth and how it will impact global economic growth and investment opportunities in the future. Shaffer said, "It's amazing to look at the growth China is expected to experience over the next several years. In fact, by 2025, China is expected to build TEN New York-sized cities. That growth will certainly have an effect on the Chinese population and more importantly on the world. I'm excited that I get to see it from the ground up."

Gabriel Asebedo, a Certified Financial Planner[®] practitioner, will speak about how to develop and implement an investment policy to guide investment decisions.

Capital markets in China have experienced phenomenal growth since China joined the WTO in 2001. As of December 2009, the A-share stock market of China has become the world's second largest next to the United States, surpassing the former number two equity markets of Japan. The market value of the United States equity markets as of December 2009 was $15.08 trillion while the market value of China's A-share equity market was ¥24.27 trillion, or U.S. $3.57 trillion.
